TWO CENTS

TEACHERS HAVE BEEN ELECTED FOR THE COMING SCHOOL YEAR

Many New Faces Will Be Found in High School Faculty

GENERAL INCREASE IN SALARIES

The Charleroi school board during the past few weeks has been completing its list of teachers for the coming school year and the result shows a number of changes particularly in the high school faculty. At least eight new faces will be seen among the instructors of this department, including a new athletic coach, who is a graduate of Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, but who comes to Charleroi after a very successful season at Kane, Pa. He will relieve Dr. Stahlman of the duties of looking after the athletic team, which the Doctor found calling heavily on his time, which he could ill-afford to give from his rapidly increasing practice. However as instructors were hard to get during the war period, he volunteered his services, which the Board was glad to accept.

There remains one vacancy in the high school, bookkeeping penmanship, and three in the grades. A number of teachers did not apply for positions, some of them accepting positions elsewhere, while quite a number of married teachers who had given their services during the war, will return to their household duties. Of this list Miss Erma Beard goes to Calumet, Mich.; Miss Helen S. Thompson to Warren, O.; Prof. C. P. McCormick has been elected as principal of the California borough schools and Miss Rosetta Rodgers goes to Mexico. Prof. Presho was not an applicant, while Mrs. Ada T. Hill goes back to housekeeping.

Of the grade teachers who were not applicants, Miss Claire Campbell goes to France, Miss Sara Penrod to California borough schools, Miss Kate Gamble to Uniontown, Miss Ruth Langendorf was not an applicant; Mrs. South Mrs. Marie Whitehead Ramsey, Mrs. Emma Robertson, Mrs. Pauline Collier Whittaker, Mrs. Gladys Parker and Mrs. Suzanne Simpson go back to household duties.

The salaries of the teachers in the district were also increased, the general increase being about 20 per cent, which will conform practically to the new law about to be adopted by the State. In the High school the salaries will range from $100 to $150 per month.

The faculty of the High School for the coming term, together with their college and home address, as follows: Principal—Chauncey C. Lively, 117 Second street, Charleroi, Waynesburg College. Edward Brady, Minersville, Pa. science, Dickinson College.

STORM DOES MORE DAMAGE IN MONESSEN

The rain storm of last evening again caused considerable damage in Monessen, but not on scale to that of the storm of a few days ago. A number of cellars were filled with water during the storm, and as a consequence pumping is again the order of the day in our neighboring town. The sewers have been dug up in a number of places in the town for the purpose of finding out where they were clogged, and this fact added to the unpleasant features in connection with the storm.

TICKET CONTEST GROWS IN INTEREST

In the contest among the young ladies for the sale of Chautauqua tickets, Miss Fannie Bosson has advanced to third place, and this change groups the first four contestants very closely together. Further changes are expected before the close of the day, as all of the contestants have quite a number of sales promised and they will likely be realized this evening. The standing of the young ladies at the time of going to press was as follows: Miss Bradley, Miss Orange, Miss Bosson, Miss Heiple, Miss Barth, Miss Wagner, Miss Murray, Miss Shipe and Miss Castiaux.

At the business session of the thirteenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Association of the B. R. O. E., held at Erie on Thursday, J. E. Masters of Charleroi made the principal address. In the afternoon a parade was held which was the closing event of the session.

Contractors Must Speed Up On All Road Work

With the greatest construction program ever undertaken by any commonwealth, the State Highway department does not propose to permit contractors to delay construction on any one of the scores of projects now under way in various parts of the State. During the last few days a half-dozen contractors have been called to the department at Harrisburg and have been notified that unless they speed up their work and quickly complete their contracts, these contracts will be taken from them and the bonding companies held responsible.

"There is no reason why work on the improvement of Pennsylvania State Highways should not be expedited," said Colonel Wm. D. Uhler, the department's Chief Engineer. "A year ago and two years ago the labor situation was acute, it was hard to get materials from manufacturers and it was very difficult to get shipments through on the railroads. The conditions have now changed. The labor is plentiful, material is easily secured and rail-road shipments are being made in almost the old-time form. Contractors, therefore, have no excuses to offer for delaying construction work."

AWARD CONTRACTS FOR CONCRETE ROADS

The county commissioners and controller on Thursday made awards for county road improvements as follows:

Beallsville-Zollarsville road to Donora—Construction company at an estimated cost of $32,424.15; constructed with gravel concrete.

Avenue-Cross road—George S. White, company, Pittsburg, slag concrete $39,882.50.

Burgettstown-Bulger road, Federal Construction company, Pittsburg, limestone concrete $56,135.

Midway-Primrose road to McPherson Brothers, Edgeworth, slag concrete, $58,072.80.

West Alexander Mechanic street road, Tarentum Sand and Gravel company, Tarentum, gravel concrete $12,222.50.

The above roads are being built on the percent basis by the county townships and boroughs interested. Representatives of the boroughs and townships were present and agreed to award the contracts at the above bids.

Hospital Auxiliary Meeting. There will be a meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary at the home of Mrs. D. E. Sloan, 700 Crest avenue, Monday evening, June 23, at 7:30. The meeting will be held on the porch. All members are urgently requested to attend.

URGE ECONOMY IN USE OF ICE DURING THE HEATED TERM

COLONEL AIKEN RETURNS TO COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE

Lieut. Col. John Aiken, late of the 110th Infantry, 28th Division, has returned to his desk in the commissioners' office at Washington. Two years ago in July Col. Aiken, the Captain, obtained a leave of absence from the commissioners' office to enter the army. He served from the 15th of July, 1917 to June 1919, when he was mustered out of the service. He now returns to the duties which he gave up when he donned the uniform of the United States Army.

Heavy Demand Is Made On All Plants At This Time

MANUFACTURERS ARE KEEPING UP WITH THE DOMESTIC DEMAND IN VERY GOOD SHAPE IN THE LOCAL DISTRICT, BUT INQUIRIES FROM OUTSIDE DISTRICTS INDICATE THAT OTHER LOCALITIES ARE NOT SO FORTUNATE AS OURS. DURING THE PAST FEW DAYS THE VALLEY CRYSTAL PLANT HAS RECEIVED INQUIRIES AS TO ITS ABILITY TO PRODUCE ICE FOR EASTERN SHIPMENTS IN "CAR LOAD" LOTS, AND WHILE THE MANAGEMENT HAS SAID IT MIGHT BE ABLE TO SPARE SOME OF ITS PRODUCTION AT THE SAME TIME IT IS LOOKING AFTER ITS OWN TRADE BEFORE TAKING ON ANY OTHER BUSINESS.

The program offered by the "Lafayette" Chautauqua this year is one of exceptional merit. In many cases, since the address on opening day on "The Spirit of Democracy," Prof. Dickinson, who follows him, is one of the leading educators of the country. Two lecturers who will leave messages of general interest are Mrs. Abt, who has broad experience in social work and Miss Byrnie of the Red Cross.

Finally Gen. Azagapetian with his first-hand knowledge of Bolshevism and world problems in political science will make a gripping appeal to his hearers. In no case is there to be war talk. The speakers who touch on questions of political science will deal with the problems of reconstruction, which are the problems of the hour, and which are now of great concern to all thinking people.

A meeting of the Little Light Bearers was held in the Methodist Episcopal church, Friday afternoon, June 20th, at 2:30 o'clock. About 35 little ones were present and a short program in charge of Mrs. Allison was carried out by the children, consisting of songs and recitations. It was a very pleasant afternoon for the Light Bearers, mothers and members of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, who were hostesses to the children. The church was beautifully decorated with flags and flowers. A number of new members were admitted.

A FINE SERIES OF ENTERTAINMENTS

Charleroi's Chautauqua drive is on in earnest, and nine of her most popular young ladies are working to put the ticket sales over the top. The result of the two days' effort indicates that they will succeed, and that the people of the community are back of the movement.

PICNIC WAS A FINE SUCCESS

The annual picnic of the First Presbyterian Church was held at Oakland Park yesterday afternoon. There was a good attendance and all present seemed to enjoy the outing thoroughly. The picnic was held in the shade of the big trees, which was one of the first features which was followed by a program of sports which included events arranged for all ages from tiny tots of three years to dignified matrons. It was refreshing to see the enthusiasm with which old and young contested for the many prizes. By the time all the contests had been finished, the good fairies who look after the "feats" at picnics got busy and provided a supper that would make Mr. Hoover sit up and take notice. Then the weather man got busy and furnished a fireworks display which was accompanied by a rainstorm that drove everybody to seek cover. It was a tired but happy party that left the park about nine o'clock, finishing a pleasant day's outing by joining in the familiar songs as the special car rolled homeward.

T. J. Allen has received word that his son, Don A. Allen, a member of Company F, of the Twenty-third Engineers, and who arrived in New York a few days ago, is now at Camp Dix, where he is awaiting his discharge from the army. It is expected that he will arrive home some time next week.

ROAD BUILDING

A new world's record will be set by the Pennsylvania State Highway Department Tuesday, July 8, when bids will be opened for the construction of approximately 107 miles of modern-type pavement, the cost of which will range from $4,000,000 to $4,500,000.

An instance is on record where bids were asked for the grading and drainage of a greater mileage but no Commonwealth has ever asked at one time for bids for the construction of so great a mileage as that represented in the "letting" of July 8.

The exact amount of construction for which the Department will ask for bids July 8 is 106.96 miles. Before the close of July, over 500 miles of Highway will be in the course of building in various parts of the Commonwealth.

This tremendous construction program has resulted in the institution of a very large number of detours, inasmuch as a road cannot be used while it is being rebuilt. The Highway Department's Bureau of Information has inaugurated a weekly bulletin service concerning these detours, explaining in detail where they are.

The longest strip of Highway for which construction is planned and for which bids will be open July 8, is that section of the Lackawanna Trail which lies in Clark's Summit, Glenburn, Dalton and LaPluma boroughs and Abington, Clinton and Nicholson Townships, in Wyoming and Lackawanna Counties. The total length of this construction is 11,063 feet. This is approximately 2.1 miles and is a record breaker for Pennsylvania, insofar as continuous construction is concerned. The Lackawanna Trail is an important northeastern Pennsylvania thoroughfare leading from Scranton to Binghamton, New York.

Another important piece of construction is that in Derry Township, Westmoreland County on the William Penn Highway, where 32,047 feet of reinforced concrete and hillside brick are planned to connect Blairsville and New Alexandria. Other important highways are to be put under contract and Pennsylvania will be in the hands of road makers who expect to put us out of the mud.

A DIFFICULT PROPOSITION

Finger-print identification, being extremely exact, might be usefully employed in various ways when special precautions are desirable, but such extension of the method is made difficult by its association with crime and the detection of criminals. It is said that certain financial institutions attempting to employ this form of identification found their patrons unalterably opposed to being "treated like a thief or a candidate for the judge's gallery." It is not surprising, therefore, to hear that widespread protest has greeted the proposal of New York's Health Commissioner that applicants for prescriptions be required to leave their finger-prints at the drug stores, the object being restraint on the trade in harmful drugs. The outcry is not merely from "drug fiends," the list of protesters including the names of reputable physicians. But the proposition seems to have found newspaper support and one commenting editor, noting that a finger-print is the securest of all signatures because it is more individual and can not, like the strokes of a pen, be disguised, actually ventures to suggest that "if the police hadn't made chief use of the finger-print documents of trust and value would now be signed with hand and finger, and even checks and notes would bear finger-print instead of the sign of one's fist."

Few will take such a suggestion seriously. Think of the paying tellers of the United States being compelled to memorize some thousands of finger-prints or to look through the record of millions of finger prints before being sure that checks received or presented for payment are genuine! It is obvious that the method could be made practicable in the finance and commerce only in the re-actively few cases where extra precautions are desirable. Even with the objection based on crime association removed a practical objection would remain.

ORIGIN OF TAR AND FEATHERS

An English army officer recently applied a coat of tar and feathers to an English officer who had unreasonably offered through relatives he had established with the army officer's wife. The injured husband and his brother tied the offender to a tree and gave him a coat of tar and feathers in regular White Cap style. The account will surprise many readers throughout the English-speaking world because of the widespread impression that the punishment of tar and feathers is something peculiarly American and that the practice originated with and is confined to mobs in the wilder or more remote sections of the United States. But the practice did not begin in America and is in fact, English in origin.

The first known use of tar and feathers was in the British navy 730 years ago. It is on record that in 1260 Richard of the Lion Heart, when about to start on the Third Crusade ordered that such of his sailors as were found guilty of theft should be covered with "boiling pitch" and feathers or down be then strewn upon them. This ancient employment of boiling pitch of course meant death, while the modern application of pitch heated only enough to run and smear is not necessarily fatal. The modern American practice is therefore a more merciful adaptation of an ancient British substitute for the usual hanging of a thief.

TOO SOON TO FORGET

It is true enough that the people of a nation at war are ready to believe anything to the discredit of the enemy as well as anything whatsoever tending to glorify their own cause and their own fighters. The unimpassioned historian of a later time always finds a large task of correction set before him. But now, with the war not yet officially over and with the friends of Germany working like beavers to show that the peace terms imposed on a misrepresented people are too severe, it is too soon to begin to work of correction. We read of several American correspondents with the army that are making it their business to run down and destroy "imaginative stories" connect with the achievements of American arms, and of one American correspondent "undertakes to correct stories about the Germans" on the ground that "German atrocity stories were magnified by the time they were published in the States."

They had better remember that peace is not yet restored and the situation is still critical. There are baseless yarns of course, but to upset belief in one particular is to create doubt in others and it is too soon to forget the German policy of savage "frightfulness," with its carrying of civilians into distant slavery and hundreds of other certainly known atrocities—all a part of a deliberate scheme of terrorism. It will be time to begin to forget when the aims of civilization's war on Germany have been achieved and real peace reigns.

NO LOWER PRICES

In answer to the question proposed by the United States Department of Labor, "Will prices fall?" a large number of big business men answer, "No, not for some time." All seem to agree that the prevailing high level will continue for some time and that the country must accept a long period of high cost of living, high prices and high wages.

This conclusion is logical from the facts. High prices and high wages will prevail until the causes producing them are removed. These causes are inflation of the currency of the world, increases in national obligations and the destruction of wealth by war.

The nations have traveled along the road of inflation without a corresponding increase in wealth; they must retrace their steps and get to work increasing wealth as rapidly as possible.

If the world's credit money doubles and commodities are cut in half, it is manifest that prices measured by that currency must more than double. The scales have lifted prices high and depressed the amount of wealth. The solution of the problem is the reduction of credit money and the increase in production of wealth.

According to report, there are widespread evidences that the economy, thrift and self-denial of war time are to be followed by a period of reckless spending and even of the wildest "splurging." But sane persons will be able to look on philosophically whenever they see the pendulum swinging back in this violent fashion, knowing that it will help business in general and bring harm only to the self-indulgent.

Having looked for four years into the blackness of a temporary pit of German digging, sobered people shrink from the thought of a permanent pit which they may dig for themselves. This may account for the announcement that not before in 110 years of the New York Bible Society's existence has there been such a large demand for Bibles as now.

Just fifty years ago the gallant cowboys, trappers and miners of Wyoming conferred the ballot upon the fevvered women in their midst, thus beginning a legislative movement now culminating in the Federal amendment providing nation-wide suffrage which awaits the ratification of the states.

The Senate and House have passed legislation providing the early return of the wires to their owners, and the railroads are to go back into private hands at the end of this year. Thus step by step the country is returning to normal pre-war conditions.

Wonder what some of the districts which voted against the road bond issue would have to say to the commissioners, if they should appear to petition to have an improved road constructed? It looks as if explanations would be in order.

Of course, it will be a good thing to have political leaders debate that peace treaty all over everywhere. But to think that they're going to do it just when so many citizens were settling down for a nice, restful summer!

Alcock, the aviator, says his machine was covered with ice a large part of the time on the way across the Atlantic. No other way to get cooled off. We can foresee that transatlantic flights are going to be popular in the summer time.

Every American town wants a captured cannon, there are not enough for that, and the thousands of bills to provide such relics tend to make an embarrassed Congress wish the war had lasted longer.

Speaking of lovely hot-weather jobs, how'd you like to be one of the "Big Five" at Paris, with the world's affair to settle and a billion people jumping onto you no matter how you settled them?

DOUBLING CAPACITY OF WIRETON DOCK

At the present time the Pittsburgh Steel company is elevating at its Wireton Docks about 40 cars of coal a day. This coal is shipped in by water from the Alicia mine of the company. In the fifth pool of the Monongahela river, the plant recently acquired by the steel corporation from Capt. W. Harry Brown. The steamer Alicia is kept in commission delivering this coal, making two and three trips per week between the mine and the docks. The demands of the steel company for coal has grown so much of late that work is already under way in the erection of an additional hoist. A new abutment is being built on piling which is now being driven and when it is completed the capacity of the dock will be doubled. At present the hoist is elevating about a barge of coal every day.

VOTERS WILL SELECT ORPHANS' COURT JUDGE

The precedent established in the bill granting an additional judge for Lehigh county has been followed in amendments to the Washington county Orphans' Court judge measure presented by Senator Joseph A. Herron. Under the changes there is to be no appointment, but the voters will choose the new judge at the November election. The Governor will thus be saved from necessity of having to make a selection. A number of members of the Washington county bar have been mentioned for the place.

STEEL PRODUCTS MEN ON OUTING

Possibly one hundred members of the official and clerical forces of the Pittsburgh Steel Products Company left on the Fairmont express this morning for Point Marion, where they will spend today and Sunday as the guests of Superintendent Wickstrom at his summer camp. The Steel Products Band accompanied the party, which will insure plenty of music during the short stay up the river. A number of committees had been previously appointed, which will take care of the entertainment of the guests during the outing.

A Warm Discussion

"I would not think of wearing regular weight clothes in the summer any more."

"But how can a man look neat and dress in these featherweight clothes?" Buy

High Art Clothes

In genuine Palm Beach or Cool Krash at Berryman's. I started last year and found they keep their shape splendidly and as for comfort — well, they are cheap enough for you to try them and see if you don't buy me a good cigar out of appreciation. You can rub 'em, tub 'em, they come up smiling."

One of our customers described the above dialogue to us yesterday. He bought another Palm Beach Suit, need we say more?
